President's Message

By Michael Erickson, Ph.D., President, California Board of Psychology

Greetings and happy spring to you! With this issue, the Board of Psychology introduces its new newsletter.

In this edition, we will provide you with updates about new Board members, staff, and the new Strategic Plan.

We look forward to providing you up-to-date information about our services and the changing profession of psychology.

Strategic Planning and its Importance to You

By Michael Erickson, Ph.D., President, Board of Psychology

As defined by the Department of Consumer Affairs' SOLID Planning Solutions unit, strategic planning is a process by which we can envision the future and develop the necessary procedures and operations to influence and achieve that future.

If you are a licensee/registrant, applicant, consumer, law enforcement agency, educational institution, policymaker, or interested party, you have a vested interest in the activities of the Board of Psychology. The Board conducted a strategic planning session in March. Before March, the Board solicited feedback from stakeholders via survey to focus our goals and priorities for the next five years.

Using a broad range of collaborative techniques, we are optimistic about addressing future challenges and developing a realistic strategic plan that continues to emphasize consumer protection and that also encourages excellence in psychological services from our licensees. We remain, as always, committed to consumer protection and providing excellent customer service to current and future licensees/registrants.

LEGISLATIVE UPDATE

SB 127 (Gaines) Firearms: mentally disordered persons

Chapter 753, Statutes of 2013

What is the new law?

SB 127 requires a psychotherapist to notify local law enforcement within 24 hours when a person or a person's family member communicates to the therapist a serious threat of physical violence against a reasonably identifiable victim or victims. The purpose of this statutory change is to "add certainty and consistency" to the reporting requirements and to remove any confusion or ambiguity in the definition of "immediately."

SB 127 defines the time within which a licensed psychotherapist must communicate a serious threat to a local law enforcement entity as 24 hours.

Background

Formerly, licensed psychotherapists were required to "immediately" notify local law enforcement when a person or a person's family member communicates to the therapist a serious threat of physical violence against a reasonably identifiable victim or victims, and required the local law enforcement agency to immediately notify the Department of Justice.

Existing law prohibits a person from possessing a firearm or deadly weapon for a period of six (6) months when the person has communicated a serious threat of physical violence against a reasonably identifiable victim or victims to a licensed psychotherapist. Existing law requires the licensed psychotherapist to immediately report the identity of the person to a local law enforcement agency, and requires the local law enforcement agency to immediately notify the Department of Justice.

How it will affect you?

As of January 1, 2014, licensed psychotherapists must notify local law enforcement within 24 hours when a person or a person's family member communicates to the therapist a serious threat of physical violence against a reasonably identifiable victim or victims.

For more information on this law visit this Web site http://leginfo.legislature.ca.gov/faces/billNavClient.xhtml?bill_id=201320140SB127

SB 666 (Steinberg) Employment: retaliation

Chapter 577, Statutes of 2013

What is the new law?

SB 666 provides for the suspension or revocation of an employer's business license for retaliation based on citizenship/immigration status. The law also grants discretionary disciplinary authority to licensing agencies at the Department of Consumer Affairs. The Board is permitted to take into account the potential impact of the suspension of the license on employees.

Background

Existing State and federal laws contain provisions that define unlawful discrimination and lawful employment practices by employers and employment agencies to protect both prospective and current employees against employment discrimination. There was, however, no authority granted to licensing agencies at the Department of Consumer Affairs to discipline employment infractions by licensees.

How it will affect you?

As of January 1, 2014 the Board has the authority to pursue discretionary disciplinary action against licensees who have been found guilty of violating the above employment law.

For more information on this law visit this Web site http://leginfo.legislature.ca.gov/faces/billNavClient.xhtml?bill_id=201320140SB666

What to Expect From Your California Licensed Psychologist

By Jacqueline Horn, Ph.D., Board Member

The task of choosing someone for therapy or to help an organization function more effectively can be a daunting task. Most people don't know the difference between a psychologist, psychiatrist, marriage and family therapist, or social worker. Even though there are many similarities between these different specialties, there are also significant differences. Psychologists hold doctoral degrees and are trained to work with children, adults, individuals, couples, families, and organizations, depending on the particular training program attended. They work in a variety of settings—private therapy offices, hospitals and medical schools, military settings, businesses, prisons, schools, and others. They deal with many issues such as depression, anxiety, post-traumatic stress disorder, and learning difficulties.

Below are some guidelines that the California Board of Psychology hopes will help in choosing a psychologist and some information about what can be expected when one engages the services of a psychologist:

- Verify on the California Board of Psychology's Web site that the psychologist's license is current.
- Clarify with the psychologist that he or she is trained to help with the issues to be addressed and has experience to do so.
- The psychologist should fully inform all clients about billing arrangements, how he or she may be contacted when needed other than at scheduled appointment times, what procedures are in effect when the psychologist is unavailable, and the limits of confidentiality. This information is usually exchanged in the form of a written informed consent form or contract.

- Expect that the psychologist will have only one role with any person in therapy—that of a professional in the therapist-client relationship. There should be no social, sexual, familial, or other relationship with the psychologist, nor should the psychologist attempt that.
- Individuals have the right to refuse a particular type of treatment or intervention; to request (or refuse) electronic recordings of any meetings with the psychologist; and to obtain a second opinion at any time about any intervention proposed or occurring.

Individuals should feel comfortable working with their psychologist, and should be able to address any concerns or issues without fear of reprisal. This kind of respectful relationship between the psychologist and client usually has the potential for a positive outcome to the work undertaken.

The Board of Psychology hopes the above information is helpful when deciding to engage the services of a psychologist.

Submitting Your Supervision Agreement Form: Plan Ahead

By Lani Snyder, California Board of Psychology, Licensing/Registration Coordinator

The purpose of the supervision agreement form is to ensure that the supervisor and the person being supervised have a mutual understanding and agreement about the scope and goals for the supervision experience before the start of the training, as well as to ensure that both parties understand the Board's supervision requirements before training begins. Below are some suggestions to consider when preparing and submitting a supervision agreement to ensure the full accrual of supervised hours:

- Print and consider using the supervision agreement form from the Board of Psychology's Web site prior to the beginning of training.
- Set an appointment with your supervisor to review and discuss the supervision requirements.
- Sign and date the form after reviewing the plan.
- Applicants should retain a copy of the signed supervision agreement plan for their records.
- Supervisors must submit the original supervision agreement form together with the verification of experience form directly to the Board at the end of the training.

For psychological assistants, the process is slightly different. The form must also be completed prior to the start of training, however we recommend submitting the plan and application together for registration to the Board because the Board is required to approve the plan. The supervision agreement form must be accompanied with a supervision plan. For samples of a supervision plan, visit www.psychology.ca.gov.

Communicating to Our Audience

By Johanna Arias-Bhatia, J.D., Board Member

The Board of Psychology has historically striven for excellence in psychology for Californians. To that end, the information sharing for licensees/registrants, applicants, consumers, and interested parties should be easily accessible. To respond to this challenge, the Board will be overhauling its current Web site and extending its forms of communication to social media. In an age where laws and regulations are constantly changing, stakeholders of the Board should know where to look for the information they desire.

Web site enhancements:

- Links will be more intuitive.
- Instructions to forms will be reviewed for plain language style.
- Links to statutes and regulations will be embedded in documents with citations.
- New URL—from www.psychboard.ca.gov to www.psychology.ca.gov.
- Instructional videos for applicants and renewing licensees/registrants.

Social media presence:

- Like us on Facebook at <https://www.facebook.com/BoardofPsychology>—CA Board of Psychology.
- Follow us on Twitter at <https://twitter.com/BDofPsychology> (@BDofPsychology).
- Join our e-mail list at www.psychology.ca.gov.

If you have a suggestion for changes to the Board's Web site, or have an idea to make our communications more clear for you, please let us know by e-mailing us at bopmail@dca.ca.gov.
