To: California Board of Psychology
Re: Fulfilling the Promise of AB 2703: Protecting Accredited Psychology Training and Expanding Access to Mental Health Care

Dear Members of the Board:

As leaders in psychology, community health, medical education, and accredited clinical training, we write ahead of the Board's November quarterly public meeting to respectfully ask the Board to reconsider its position and clarify corresponding FAQ, registration, and supervision forms. The current interpretation has prevented eligible interns in APA-accredited internships from registering as Psychological Associates, excluding them from the reimbursement pathway established by AB 2703—legislation this Board supported to expand psychology training and access to mental health care.

Our request rests on three central arguments:

1. Legislative purpose and public protection: AB 2703 was meant to sustain psychology training in community health settings; health centers, accredited internships, and registration are complementary safeguards.
2. Legal authority: Holding registration at the APA-approved training site is in no way the same as counting experience twice. Existing law permits concurrent registration with each hour verified under one pathway.
3. Consequences of inaction: California risks losing accredited internships, weakening its future psychology workforce, and reducing access to care for underserved patients.

1. Fulfilling AB 2703's purpose while protecting the public

AB 2703's sponsors recognized that the absence of reimbursement had "significantly limited training opportunities for future psychologists."[1] The law allows Federally Qualified Health Centers (FQHCs) and Rural Health Clinics (RHCs) to receive Medi-Cal reimbursement for supervised Psychological Associate services, and the approved State Plan Amendment requires Board registration for participation.[2] Three complementary systems can work together:

- FQHCs and RHCs operate under federal and state clinical and reimbursement requirements.
- APA-accredited internships require structured training, regular supervision by licensed psychologists, competency evaluations, and accreditation oversight.[3]
- Psychological Associate registration requires independent eligibility, Board-compliant supervision, documentation, and accountability.

Registration would not replace APA accreditation, nor would accreditation exempt interns from Board requirements. Together, they strengthen public protection while sustaining internship positions.

2. Existing law supports registration without duplicate credit

The Board's FAQ answers that the same supervised experience cannot count under more than one pathway, such as an APA internship.[4] We agree: no hour should count twice. But this answer has been interpreted to merge two separate questions: whether an eligible intern may hold registration, and under which pathway the intern's hours are verified. An intern completing 1,500 qualifying hours receives credit for 1,500—not 3,000—under the predoctoral limit in 16 CCR § 1387(a)(1). The governing provisions support clarification:

- 16 CCR § 1387(a)(1)(A) states that registration "is not required" for qualifying internships; it does not prohibit concurrent Board registration.
- SB 775 (2025) extended registration eligibility to doctoral trainees with three years of postgraduate education and doctoral candidacy.[5]

Indeed, the regulations already show that registration and internship are compatible: an intern who registers could have hours verified as Psychological Associate experience under § 1387(a)(1)(C) while completing the accredited internship for degree purposes. If registration is compatible with internship under subsection (C), it should not be disqualifying under subsection (A). The pathway designation, not the registration, prevents double counting.

We have identified no provision making registration, by itself, disqualifying for internship-based verification.

3. Inaction harms students, California's workforce, and patients

This concern is no longer hypothetical. The California Psychological Association's October 2026 letter reported conflicting Board staff guidance and at least two FQHCs where psychology internships were reportedly threatened with cancellation because interns could not register.[6]

For students, fewer accredited internships mean delayed graduation, added expense, and lost access to high-quality training; 743 applicants nationally went unmatched in the 2026 APPIC Match.[7]

For California, the pipeline of psychologists trained in integrated primary care and community health weakens. Associate marriage and family therapists and clinical social workers are already reimbursable in these settings via their registration with the BBS,[8] creating incentives to shift positions away from psychology.

For patients, fewer training positions mean less supervised care now and fewer psychologists prepared for safety-net settings later, as federal changes strain Medicaid, about 46% of health center revenue.[9]

Requested Board action

We respectfully ask the Board to:

1. Clarify the guidance, supervision forms, and FAQ to confirm that eligible interns may hold Psychological Associate registration during an accredited internship, with each hour verified once under a single recognized pathway (proposed language in Appendix A).
2. Issue interim guidance, including instructions for the registration and supervision agreement forms, so registration alone does not jeopardize interns' hours while the Board acts.
3. If the Board concludes existing law does not permit this, identify the controlling provision and direct staff to develop a narrowly tailored amendment.
4. If implementation issues remain after the November quarterly public meeting, convene a brief, staff-led working group of training directors, health center representatives, and DHCS as appropriate to recommend form and verification updates by December 4, 2026 .

A clarification before the February 2027 APPIC Match would help preserve training for the class beginning in July.[10] We seek no reduction in supervision or accreditation standards—only that existing systems work together. We appreciate the Board's support of AB 2703 and ask the Board to fulfill its promise before preventable losses in training capacity become permanent.

Guide to the Appendices

Who	What they govern	Effect of our request
Board of Psychology	Registration, supervised practice, verification of supervised professional experience	Confirms an eligible intern may register; each hour verified once
APA Commission on Accreditation	Internship structure, curriculum, supervision, competency evaluation	None. All standards continue to apply
Department of Health Care Services	Medi-Cal reimbursement under AB 2703 and SPA 25-0009	None. All billing and supervision conditions continue to apply

Three points to weigh

1. Safety. Does concurrent status lower any protection? No: Board requirements are the floor, and accreditation adds oversight on top (Appendix C lists safeguards).
2. Authority. Does existing law allow it? Yes. Registration is “not required” for internships, not prohibited (Appendix B).
3. Administration. Can staff verify hours cleanly? Yes: each hour is designated under one pathway at verification of experience stage, and the 1,500-hour cap applies (Appendix A, Appendix C).

Supporting Legal and Implementation Materials for AB 2703

Prepared by the leadership letter's organizers to assist the California Board of Psychology in considering the requested clarification.

The following materials provide illustrative implementation language, relevant legal authorities, and supporting data. They accompany the leadership letter as supplemental materials and do not imply that every individual signatory has independently reviewed or endorsed each proposed formulation.

Appendix A. Proposed FAQ Language

Illustrative FAQ Language for Board Consideration

The following examples are offered as potential approaches to clarifying the Board's existing guidance. They are intended to support the Board's consideration of how eligible psychology interns may hold Psychological Associate registration while maintaining all applicable supervision, accreditation, and experience-verification requirements.

We recognize the Board's authority to determine the appropriate interpretation and final wording. These examples are offered as starting points for discussion and refinement.

Option 1: Revised answer to the existing question

Q: Can a trainee bill clients under a psychological associate registration while also counting the same supervised professional experience under another recognized path (e.g., an APA-accredited internship)?

A: A trainee may not count the same hour of supervised professional experience under more than one recognized path. However, a trainee in a qualifying formal internship who independently meets all requirements of Business and Professions Code section 2913 may also hold a psychological associate registration at the training site. In that case, each hour is verified under one path only, and predoctoral experience remains limited to 1,500 hours under California Code of Regulations, title 16, section 1387(a)(1). Holding a registration does not by itself disqualify hours from verification as formal-internship experience.

Option 2: New question

Q: May a psychology intern in an APA-accredited (or APPIC- or CAPIC-member) internship also register as a psychological associate?

A: Yes, if (1) the intern meets all requirements of Business and Professions Code section 2913 and the registration is in effect before services are provided under it; (2) the registered practice meets all Board supervision, notification, and documentation requirements; and (3) the internship maintains its accreditation or membership standards. Each hour of supervised professional experience may be verified under one recognized path only. Questions about Medi-Cal reimbursement, including under AB 2703, should be directed to the Department of Health Care Services.

Appendix B. Legal Authorities

Provision	Text	Why it matters
Bus. & Prof. Code § 2911	"Nothing in this chapter shall be construed as restricting the activities and services of a graduate student or psychology intern enrolled in a doctoral program…"	Protects intern activity. Does not bar an intern from also registering under § 2913.
Bus. & Prof. Code § 2913(a)	A person may perform psychological functions in preparation for licensure only if "the person is registered with the board as a 'registered psychological associate.'"	Sets affirmative requirements. Does not exclude a person who is also a § 2911 intern.
Bus. & Prof. Code § 2913(d)(1)	A registered psychological associate shall not "provide psychological services to the public except as a trainee pursuant to this section."	Associate practice is itself trainee practice, consistent with operating inside a formal internship.
Bus. & Prof. Code § 2913 (SB 775, 2025)	Permits registration by a person with three or more years of postgraduate education who has been admitted to doctoral candidacy, among other routes.	Interns in accredited programs typically meet this. Establishes a statutory registration pathway potentially available to doctoral interns, independent of their accredited internship status
16 CCR § 1387(a)(1)(A)	Formal internship "accredited by the American Psychological Association … and registration with the board is not required."	"Not required" is not "prohibited." The key text.
16 CCR § 1387(a)(1)(C)	"As a registered psychological associate pursuant to section 2913 of the code and registration with the board prior to commencing work is required."	Separately recognizes associate experience. Nothing says (C) negates (A).
16 CCR § 1387(a)	"One year of SPE shall be defined as 1500 hours."	The cap is on actual hours. Concurrent status cannot inflate it.
16 CCR § 1387.5(c) § 1387(b)(11	"When SPE is accrued as part of a formal internship, the internship training director shall be authorized to provide all information required…"	Verification is where one pathway is designated for each hour.

Provision	Text	Why it matters
16 CCR §§ 1387.6, 1391.7	Associate experience must comply "with the supervision requirements of section 1387" and "must comply with Section 1387."	Associate and internship experience sit in the same framework.
Welf. & Inst. Code § 14132.100(n)	DHCS shall allow an FQHC or RHC to bill "under a supervising licensed behavioral health practitioner" for a psychological associate encounter, supervised "as required by their applicable clinical licensing board."	AB 2703 runs through the Board's existing supervision rules.
SPA 25-0009 (approved Apr. 6, 2026)	Qualifying visits include a psychological associate "registered with the Board of Psychology and supervised by a clinical psychologist."	Makes Board registration the gateway to participation.

Reading them together

The provisions describe requirements that can coexist when an intern and the experience independently satisfy both. Board requirements for registered associates remain the floor; APA accreditation adds requirements rather than replacing them; and the 1,500-hour cap means concurrent status changes who may participate, never how many hours count.

Re: Support for Fulfilling the Promise of AB 2703: Protecting Accredited Psychology Training and Expanding Access to Mental Health Care

Dear Members of the Board:

On behalf of the Collaborative Family Healthcare Association (CFHA), I write in support of the letter from California's psychology, community health, and medical education leaders asking the Board to clarify that eligible interns in APA-accredited internships may hold Psychological Associate registration under AB 2703.

CFHA is a national membership organization dedicated to integrating behavioral health and primary care. Our members are the psychologists, physicians, nurses, social workers, and administrators building teams that treat the whole person where people already receive care. Our concern is simple: integrated care only scales if there is a workforce trained to practice it, and that training happens in places like health centers and rural health clinics.

Psychology has a distinct role in this transformation. Psychologists bring assessment, brief intervention, team-based consultation, and population-level thinking that integrated models depend on. Those skills are learned by doing the work, under supervision, inside primary care and community settings. An accredited internship in a health center is one of the few places that happens well. When those positions disappear, the pipeline of psychologists prepared for safety-net practice shrinks with them.

AB 2703 was meant to protect those placements but there is a need for clarification as the letter from the state coalition details. This is a workforce problem for integrated care well beyond California, and other states are watching how it resolves. CFHA supports the requested actions: clarified FAQ and forms, interim guidance for interns and sites, and a resolution in time to preserve training for the class that follows the February 2027 APPIC Match. I welcome any member of the Board or its staff to contact me directly for further clarification or to discuss CFHA's perspective on the integrated care workforce. I am glad to make time.

MEMORANDUM

DATE	October 30, 2026
TO	Psychology Board Members
FROM	Joseph Ruiz, Legislative and Regulatory Affairs Analyst
SUBJECT	Agenda Item.19 – Discussion and Possible Action to Approve Regulatory Text Amendments for California Code of Regulations (CCR) sections 1381, 1387, 1387(d), 1388, 1388.6, 1389, and 1389.1 related to Implementation of AB 282 and EPPP Eligibility

Background

On May 19, 2023, the Board approved statutory and regulatory changes intended to implement the Examination for Professional Practice in Psychology (EPPP) Part 2 Skills Exam, which had been scheduled to take effect January 1, 2026. At the same meeting, the Board also approved regulatory amendments required to implement Assembly Bill 282 (Aguiar-Curry, Ch. 45, Stats. 2023). AB 282 mandates that specified applicants be permitted to take any and all examinations required for licensure, resulting in significant modernization of the Board's examination eligibility structure.

On May 10, 2024, the Board approved amended regulatory language to further refine these examination-related updates. However, on October 22, 2024, the Association of State and Provincial Psychology Boards (ASPPB) announced a pause in its decision to implement the EPPP as a two-part exam. Because the Board's prior rulemaking package integrated EPPP Part 2 requirements, Board staff paused further regulatory work on that component pending new direction from ASPPB.

Despite this pause, the statutory requirements of AB 282 remained in effect. The Board continued forward with regulatory amendments necessary to implement AB 282 and to align examination eligibility, application sequencing, and documentation requirements with statutory mandates and modern operational needs. ASPPB has since moved forward with implementation of a new Integrated Examination for Professional Practice in Psychology (IEPPP).

The proposed amendments update several sections of Title 16, CCR, to modernize the Board's licensing and examination processes in alignment with AB 282. The changes formalize a new electronic application structure in BreEZe, establish earlier examination eligibility based on coursework completion, and strengthening documentation requirements for transcripts, registrar certifications, and supervised professional experience. The amendments also clarify procedures for examination retakes and reapplications, update military expedite provisions, and remove or defer language tied to the IEPPP.

Proposed section 1388(i) provides that applicants whose eligibility is approved on or after the date the ASPPB implements the revised EPPP in Fall 2027 shall be required to take the revised examination. Applicants who failed the current version of the EPPP prior to the implementation date and whose examination eligibility remains active may continue to retake the current examination; however, such applicants shall be permitted to do so only through March 31, 2028.

These amendments streamline the licensing process by improving access to examinations, clarifying application sequencing, and enhancing verification of applicant qualifications. Strengthened documentation and SPE requirements promote greater consistency and reliability in the Board's review process, while updated reapplication and military expedite procedures improve efficiency and transparency. Overall, the amendments modernize the Board's processes, align them with statutory mandates, and provide clearer regulatory guidance for applicants, licensees, and other stakeholders.

Action Requested

Consider and approve the proposed text. Staff recommends the Board adopt the motion as follows: • Approve the proposed regulatory text for Section(s) 1381, 1387, 1387(d), 1388, 1388.6, 1389, and 1389.1, direct staff to submit the text to the Director of the Department of Consumer Affairs and the Business and Consumer Services Agency for review and if no adverse comments are received, authorize the Executive Officer to take all steps necessary to initiate the rulemaking process, make any non-substantive changes to the package, and set the matter for a hearing if requested. If no adverse comments are received during the 45-day comment period and no hearing is requested, authorize the Executive Officer to take all steps necessary to complete the rulemaking and adopt the proposed regulations at Section(s) 1381, 1387, 1387(d), 1388, 1388.6, 1389, and 1389.1 as noticed.

Attachment #1: Proposed Text California Code of Regulations (CCR) sections 1381, 1387, 1387(d), 1388, 1388.6, 1389, and 1389.1 related to Implementation of AB 282 and EPPP Eligibility
